

The Current State of the Cemetery

A very limited number of single and double plots remains available in the cemetery. In addition, some half-plots suitable for the burial of cremated remains can be found on the cemetery's perimeter. Of the few plots that remain, those in the upper section of the cemetery have been reserved by the vestry for parishioners and deceased rectors and their families. Many have some degree of slope. Plots in the lower section are currently available to the general public, but numbers are, once again, limited.
